

THINGS TO DO

The Rolling Stones tribute band Start Me Up! will perform Saturday, June 17 at Abacoa Amphitheater in Jupiter. PROVIDED

1. Start Me Up! Rolling Stones tribute band at Abacoa Amphitheater

Don't miss the sights, sounds and the moves as this Rolling Stone tribute band takes you just about as close to the real thing as you can possibly get. Rock out with Start Me Up! to one incredible classic after another like "Satisfaction," "Jumpin' Jack Flash," "Under My Thumb" or maybe "Waiting on a Friend" or even "Doom and Gloom."

The event is 7 p.m. Saturday, June 17. 1267 Main St., Jupiter. Free. Information: allevents.in/jupite

2. Gypsy Life Surf Shop's International Surfing Day Sidewalk Sale & Market

The Warehouse District will celebrate International Surfing Day on Saturday with great deals on clothing, swimwear, and more. There will be booths from local vendors as well as live music featuring the coastal cowboy sounds of Brett Staska (4 to 6 p.m.). Whether you're a wave slider, sidewalk surfer, gremmie or even a grumpy old surfer who can't stop talking about how good it was in your day, come down and celebrate.

The event is noon to 6 p.m. Saturday, June 17. 1200 Elizabeth Ave., West Palm Beach. Free. Information: thedistrictwpb.com

Want to see something really cool that no tablet, phone or television can truly replicate? Then don't miss out on the sunset hike, tonight, Friday, June 16, at the Loxahatchee National Wildlife Refuge in Boynton Beach. YUTING JIANG/ THE PALM BEACH POST

3. Sunset Hike at Loxahatchee National Wildlife Refuge

Get outside and see something cool on this one-mile roundtrip, ranger-led sunset walk from the visitor center to the levee. There guests will pause to watch the sunset over the refuge and hopefully realize/understand why the natural world is worth protecting. Visitors are encouraged to bring binoculars or a camera, wear closed toed shoes and other appropriate clothing. Bug spray is a great idea!

The event is 7:45 to 8:45 p.m. tonight,
